

The Founders Climb

Entrepreneurship · teens–adult · 30 minutes · one screen, the free game, this page

For your homeschool table — a 30-minute lesson, zero prep. Open the free game on any screen and follow the five steps. Where a step says “the room/the group,” read it as your family; where it says “host,” that’s you.

1 · THE HOOK (3 min)

“Name a business you gave money to today. Why them and not someone else?” (Every purchase is a vote — today we learn what wins votes.)

2 · PLAY TOGETHER (12 min)

Climb until the group hits a revenue-vs-profit question and a customer question; pause on both — most first businesses die of confusing those two.

Play together: the group votes before anyone clicks, and every explanation is read aloud — the explanation is the lesson.

3 · THE TALK (8 min)

1. What problem do YOU complain about that nobody is solving? (Ideas list on paper.)
2. Why do most businesses fail — bad product, or bad math?
3. Is “find a need and fill it” still the whole game in the age of apps?

4 · SOLO CLIMB (5 min)

Five questions; entrepreneurs compare scores like quarterly earnings.

5 · THE TAKEAWAY (2 min)

“Revenue is applause; profit is rent paid.”

Homework: Price out the group’s favorite idea from question 1 — what would month one actually cost?

THE TEACHING CREED

You are not the expert; the game is. Your job is to vote last, read aloud well, and ask “why?” one more time than feels natural. Celebrate wrong answers loudly — in here, wrong is where the lesson lives.

GENO — the GSU tutor you can talk to, free, 24/7 in 32 languages — can explain any answer a second way.
