

The Sovereign Mind Climb

Fallacies & clear thinking · teens–adult (pairs with the Gauntlet) · 30 minutes · one screen, the free game, this page

For your homeschool table — a 30-minute lesson, zero prep. Open the free game on any screen and follow the five steps. Where a step says “the room/the group,” read it as your family; where it says “host,” that’s you.

1 · THE HOOK (3 min)

“Someone changed your mind once — really changed it. How did they do it? Now: when did someone TRY and fail? What was different?”

2 · PLAY TOGETHER (12 min)

Climb ten questions; keep a “fallacy wall” on paper — every named fallacy or bias the climb teaches gets written up. The wall is the trophy.

Play together: the group votes before anyone clicks, and every explanation is read aloud — the explanation is the lesson.

3 · THE TALK (8 min)

1. Which fallacy on the wall do YOU commit most? (Host confesses first — it sets the room free.)
2. Why is the smartest person in the room not the safest from bias?
3. What’s the difference between being skeptical and being cynical?

4 · SOLO CLIMB (5 min)

Five questions; add to the wall.

5 · THE TAKEAWAY (2 min)

“The first mind to guard is mine.”

Homework: Catch ONE fallacy in the wild this week — news, ad, or your own head — name it, bring it back.

THE TEACHING CREED

You are not the expert; the game is. Your job is to vote last, read aloud well, and ask “why?” one more time than feels natural. Celebrate wrong answers loudly — in here, wrong is where the lesson lives.

GENO — the GSU tutor you can talk to, free, 24/7 in 32 languages — can explain any answer a second way.
